PRIVACY POLICY

Softcial is committed to protecting your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains how we handle data when you use the Task Stream – Process Flow Chart custom visual in Power BI.

Data Collection & Usage

The Task Stream – Process Flow Chart does not collect, store, or transmit any personal, financial, or sensitive information. All data displayed within the visual remains within your Power BI environment and is not accessed or processed by Softcial.

Data Security

Since the visual operates entirely within Power BI, it does not transfer data outside your organization. Softcial does not have access to your reports, datasets, or user information.

Permissions & Third-Party Services

This visual does not integrate with external services or third-party platforms. It functions solely within Power BI and adheres to Microsoft's security and compliance standards.

Cookies & Tracking

The Task Stream – Process Flow Chart does not use cookies, trackers, or analytics tools to monitor user activity.

User Control & Responsibility

As the user, you have full control over the data inputted into the visual. It is your responsibility to ensure that data handling complies with your organization's privacy and security policies.

Compliance with Regulations

Softcial follows industry best practices and complies with applicable data protection regulations, including:

- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)
- California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA)
- Microsoft AppSource Compliance Guidelines

As no data is collected, stored, or transmitted, compliance risks are minimized.

Updates & Changes

Softcial may update this Privacy Policy to reflect improvements or regulatory changes. Any updates will be published within the Microsoft AppSource listing and on our official website.
